Dirk,

Can we talk on this?

Surely he can have a quick look at a draft when on mission and then Thomas signs....

yes, Thomas – it's just that Dirk has followed this issue himself, but we'll find a way, no worries ☺

Katja can prepare it now but then Dirk is now on mission and then on holidays. I will ask them to do it asap and we see.

Anna

P.S. I'll brainstorm with Lawrence and Johannes re Croatia.

Yes I think good idea. But why does it need until mid May. Should be surely a question of 30mins work max to put in note what Katja has already communicated to them verbally and what is in my email.

Simon

P.S. Yes I agree

Simon,

Just had a chat over a coffee with Katja. I mentioned to her the idea of maybe sending a formal note to EMPL and that I would check with you, first. If you agree then, I will ask Dirk to prepare this note putting on paper the ELARG assessment to the extent possible and highlighting the conflict-of-interest element (which is probably the only argument that can be used on a financial management basis at this stage).

The only problem is that this would not be finalised before mid-May. But given that you have already written to Richelle and that it would be mainly for the record and future reference, it would still be useful. Do you agree?

Thanks,

Anna

P.S. I wonder whether we would need to ensure some kind of handover to the DGs following Croatia's accession, in order to avoid cases such as the one with Romania above, esp. when it comes to projects. What do you think?

Yes generally but she did get a formal note/email from EMPL on 3 April and personally would have had a reply in writing from Dirk Lange to this also which was registered in ARES to make clear this is an input from ELARG.

I also find her last remark re not a very safe file a bit bizarre.

I have already sent an email to Richelle which in policy terms was similar to what Katja said. I sent you a copy. If doing a formal reply to EMP you may wish to include some of the elements in this.
